The versatile shelving system

Product overview

Storax Longspan is a hand loaded, easily adjustable shelving system that offers a wide range of options to meet virtually every storage need, whether you need a simple bay of shelving, or a complex two-tier or high-rise order picking solution.

The Storax Longspan system comprises a wide range of frames, beams and decking types, making it easy to match your precise storage needs. The modular design means that bays of different sizes and spans can be combined in the same installation to optimize storage space for any given application.

From small parts to bigger parts - Longspan can cope

Storax Longspan is available from 400mm to 1200mm deep and from 900mm to 3000mm wide, enabling you to tailor your shelving system to your precise requirements, making storage, segregation and identification of parts easy and efficient.

Build a system that suits you

At Storax we strive to combine quality products with quality service. To improve and maintain our standards, Storax is a member of both SEMA and SHEDA in the UK, and FEM in Europe, where we take an active part in the compilation of new European standards for racking products.

Experience in store

A subsidiary of F Ramada of Portugal, Storax Racking Supplies was formed in 2003 to supply a wide range of Ramada products, solely through trade outlets in the UK and elsewhere in Europe.

The founding members of Storax Racking Supplies are all ex-employees of Dexion Ltd. Collectively we offer more than 120 years' experience of the industrial storage sector. Having worked in different areas of the business, our varied knowledge and experience enable our team to provide accurate product information, technical design advice, a prompt and efficient order-processing service and reliable customer support from the quotation stage to completion of every order. Our warehouse staff pride themselves on their excellent record for accurate picking and clear, careful packing.

Working out of our Hertfordshire office and warehouse north of London, we continuously adapt our product offering and services to respond to the changing needs of our customers. We can offer a wide range of racking, shelving and associated accessories from stock, and a made-to-order service from the factory in Portugal for non-standard sizes and colours.
